

Alexandra Florea

Alexandra Florea is a 2008 graduate of the Faculty of Political Sciences, NSPSPA Bucharest, specialising in International Relations and European Integration. She also studied Economics at ESA Bucharest. She is currently following a master into Political Theory and Political Analysis at NSPSPA. She is interested mainly in ethical limits of the capitalism and side effects of the economic activity, which can be understood better by a pluralistic approach.